

The Controller's Rest Room at The Control Tower Bed and Breakfast

The Controller's Rest Room – small double room with en suite art deco shower room
This is our smallest B&B room in the Control Tower.

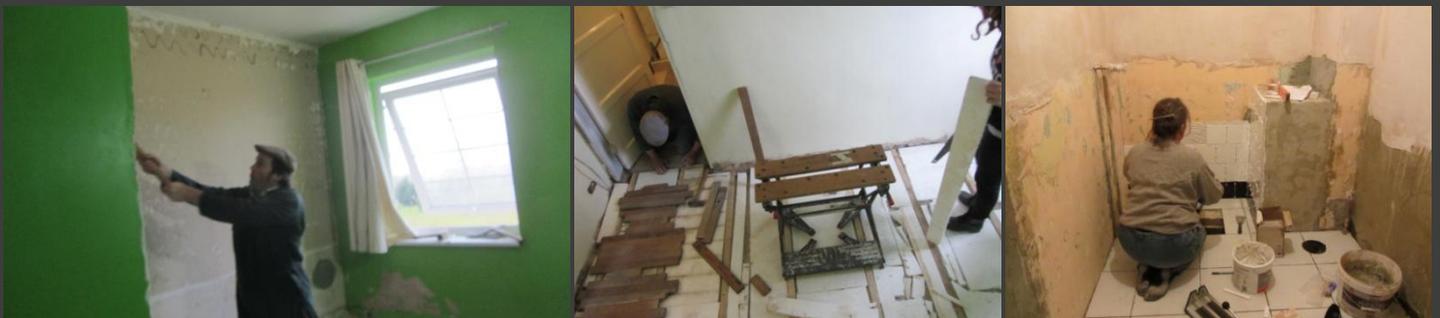

This room was where the Control Tower 'Controller' had an office for down time during operations. He had a day bed and a desk to work while the crews were out on operation, which could have been for up to 12 hours.

This view would have been seen from the Controller's Rest Room on the airfield disbandment day 03/08/1945. It now overlooks the T2 hanger which houses an animal feed plant
