

The Signal Room at The Control Tower Bed and Breakfast

The Signal Room – our larger double room with green en suite art deco bathroom
This is a light and spacious room with two windows overlooking the garden; it has a large dressing table and wardrobe as well as tea and coffee making facilities.

When operational, this room handled all written communications with the Control Tower - it has a copy of this original signal received in this room after the first operation from RAF North Creake - D-Day

Our restoration of The Signal Room...
